

SQUASHMEN GARNER CROWN AGAIN

MITROPOULOUS, DOWNES SPEAK HERE TONIGHT

Dmitri Mitropoulos, world famous conductor, and Olin Downes, music critic of the New York Times, will be guest speakers at the last in a series of public lectures which will be held in Moyse Hall at 8:30 pm, tonight.

The talk will conclude the 1954-55 session series of lectures on music which was offered to the public, free of charge, by the McGill Conservatorium of Music, and which was arranged by Dr. Ellen Ballon under the chairmanship of Principal James and Dean Clarke of the Faculty of Music.

"Can the conductor and the Critic Be Friends?" will be the subject of the discussion by these two personalities of the music world, each of whom has had wide experience in one of the two roles. Permanent conductor of the New York

Philharmonic Orchestra since 1950, Mr. Mitropoulos, prior to this appointment, had conducted virtually all the great orchestras of Europe and America.

Mr. Downes as senior music critic for the New York Times occupies a unique position in his field. His books on music and criticism have been widely read and he is a recognized authority on French music and on the works of the Finnish composer, Sibelius.

Many distinguished educators, musicians, and social leaders will be in attendance at the lecture.

CUS NOMINATIONS

Les Tishshaw has been declared Commerce Undergraduate Society President by acclamation. Four candidates are running for the position of CUS Vice-President. They are Peter Hale, Brian Johnson, David Rea, and Peter Schlesinger.

Harry Salmon and Tony Straesle are running for the position of CUS treasurer while Ruth Fenton and Mildred Lerner are running for secretary.

Peter Reid, the sole nomination for athletic's representative, has been acclaimed to that position.

WOMEN DECIDE ISSUE TODAY

There will be a meeting of the Women's Union today at 4:15 pm in the East Lounge of RVC. There are several items on the agenda, among them the proposed constitutional amendment that the Women's Union withdraw its financial support from the McGill Union.

Reports will be given by the various clubs and societies under the jurisdiction of the Women's Union and the candidates for office on the Women's Union and the MWSAA will be presented. The two candidates for the presidency of the Women's Union will give short speeches.

Two proposed constitutional amendments will be discussed and voted on. The first is resolved that the Women's Union discontinue payment of $1.00 per year per woman student to the McGill Union. The second is a suggestion that an Executive Committee be set up on a faculty basis to promote wider interest in women's activities.

Bobby Hutcheson, President of the Women's Union urges all women students to turn out for this very important meeting.

UNDEFEATED SKEIN RETAINED AS SMITH CHAPMAN STARS

By Stu Smith

The McGill squashers, coached by Al Molloy, Friday completed a successful defence of their Intercollegiate title which they have held for nine consecutive years. Playing at London against representatives from Varsity and Western they copped the Martin Trophy, winning nine of their ten tournament matches. University of Toronto won five while Western could come up with only a single victory.

Smith Chapman, McGill's top-ranked star, ran true to form as he captured the Molson Trophy, emblematic of Collegiate singles supremacy. "Smitty" won the singles title by defeating teammate Tony Lafleur, 3-1, in an all-McGill final. Lafleur reached the finals by downing Ketchum, number-three man on the Toronto side, 3-2.

Three-Team Tourney

In the actual three-team tournament, Chapman, Lafleur, Peter Slater and John Ensineck were victorious in all their matches while Mike Brodeur lost only to Ketchum of Toronto. Chapman had pretty much an easy time of it as he quickly disposed of Luxton, a Western player, by a count of 3-0, and McLellan, Varsity's top singles competitor by the same score. In both these contests "Smitty's" superior all-round court know-how and his extraordinary placements left his opponents helpless from the start.

Tony Lafleur encountered about as much difficulty as Chapman did as he breezed by Hague of Toronto and Grey of Western, both via the shutout route. Tony is the Redmen number-two man, but it seemed that he could probably make short work of the Ontario colleges' top-seeded participants.

Underrated

Mike Brodeur, number-three on the McGill aggregation, dropped a 3-0 match to Ketchum, who most certainly was underrated when placed in Toronto's third position. Brodeur, however, came right back to romp over Roman, a Western football player, 3-0 in a wide-open contest.

Yeah Pete!

In the number-four division, Peter Slater of McGill won out over Taylor of Western, 3-1, and followed it up with a hard-fought 3-2 win against Anderson of the Queen City. A curious thing is that Taylor beat Anderson handily, 3-0.

John Ensineck had to go to five games in both his matches, but he emerged from each as victor. His 3-2 wins were at the expense of Toronto's Seagram and Western's Thomas.

Happy Man

Al Molloy was indeed a happy man after the London meet as the results most certainly justified his pre-tourney confidence in his charges. This resounding victory dropped the curtain on one of the most successful squash seasons at McGill in quite a while, the team having won the City and Intercollegiate crowns and Smith Chapman having become collegiate singles titleholder. Molloy, however, points to the future, to the time when the huge interest which the sport of squash enjoys here now will result in McGill producing more and more great performers.

STOP! THIEF!

The missing items are: one Challenger 130 w — 30 watt amplifier, a 3-speed record changer and a microphone. Total value is estimated at $200.

Anyone with any pertinent information please call John Addison at CA. 5813 or Milne Kingsmill at HU. 8-5327.

DEBATING JOURNEY

RED CHINA TOPIC AT DARTMOUTH

McGill's two teams won only four debates out of twelve at a conference of 15 universities held at Dartmouth University this weekend.

Dartmouth and Harvard, each winning ten out of their twelve debates, were the highest scoring universities in the six-round tournament. Dartmouth having previously declared themselves ineligible for their own trophy it went to Harvard. The award for the highest scoring single team went to the University of Vermont, one of whose team won all six of its debates.

Alison Knox, John Fraser, Garth Mosher and Joseph Nuss made up the two teams representing McGill, while Professor Dudek of the English Department went along to act as one of the judges. Each team debated six times on the United States national topic for this year: recognition of Red China.

Mosher and Nuss had been assigned the affirmative by the McGill Debating Union, and Miss Knox and Fraser the negative. Horror was widespread when the McGill debaters discovered on arrival in Dartmouth that each team was expected to debate both sides. Every team in the tournament upheld affirmative and negative cases alternately.

McGill was the only Canadian university represented at the conference. Each McGill team won twice. Mosher and Nuss defeated Smith College and the University of Connecticut, while Miss Knox and Fraser defeated George Washington College and were the only team to defeat the highest scoring of the two Dartmouth teams.

QUEBEC SCHOOLS RE-EVALUATE NFCUS

A complete re-evaluation of the National Federation of Canadian University Students (NFCUS) was the feature of a week-end conference of the Quebec region of the Federation, held at Sir George Williams College.

McGill, Sir George, Bishops and Laval discussed NFCUS under the following headlines: objectives, projects and realisations, budgets, organization and execution, and then offered some solutions and possible action.

McGill was represented by NFCUS Chairman, Dan Usher.

NFCUS National President, Doug Burns, said that the aims of the federation were to break down barriers to national unity and that by sponsoring debates, founding the Canadian University Press (CUP) and by promoting a general exchange of ideas, NFCUS is still carrying out the aims set for it in 1926.

References to McGill's recent dropping of NFCUS popped up throughout the conference and National Secretary, Jean-Yves Pilon said at one point that although the federation was affected by McGill's action, McGill would be the one to suffer.

In a general summing up at the end of the two day meet the McGill delegation said that they hoped the federation would achieve great success and that McGill would be following the Federation's activities, especially the scholarship and student discount campaigns, with great interest.

OBJECTIVE OR OBJECTIONABLE

At Dartmouth, we learned recently, most of the examinations even in Arts subjects are of the so-called "objective" type. In Political Science, in History, in all but the higher years of English Literature, the examinations consist of "True or False" or "Multiple Choice" questions. Philosophy, we were told, is the only subject left where examinations all consisted of essay questions.

This type of examination, if skillfully constructed, is as hard or harder than an essay-type examinations. But it is a distortion of emphasis, and, we think, has dangerous implications.

Surely it is more important that a student be able to describe what happened at the Versailles Conference than that he should know the name of the chief Albanian delegate. Surely it is more important that a student be able to write an account of events and their significance in concise intelligible English than that he recite competently a string of minute details and unrelated facts. It is hardly surprising that there are complaints that graduates of this system can neither write nor think.

These "objective" types of examination are increasing in popularity. Almost all of the American College Board examinations are of this type, and more and more schools and universities are adopting it. Even where essay questions are still the basis of examination, the principle of the "objective" examination often creeps into the marking, and in many cases marks are given purely on the basis of the number of facts listed.

This objectionable system is not unknown at McGill, as a letter elsewhere on this page will show. So far, however, it has been confined to but a few courses and most of McGill's examinations could not be marked by International Business Machines.

We hope they never will be.

Letters to the Editor

Censoring The Cenci

Dear Sir:

I notice the English Department will soon produce "The Cenci." I was quite disgusted, however, to see that the producers are cutting out certain passages which have an anti-Catholic bias.

We are University students and should appreciate and understand a play for what it is worth. If a piece of art is good and merits reproduction, then those who wish to see it should receive it in its entirety, regardless of biases.

Let it not be assumed, however, that I am against all censorship. Such things as immorality and sacrilege should not be portrayed too loosely. I would also draw the line if a picture or play were created today with a purposeful and malicious slant against some religious group.

But in my estimation such movie productions as "Martin Luther" and "Oliver Twist" should not be cut or banned. Only the very weak do not wish to be exposed to new and stimulating ideas, or old ones for that matter.

Consider the Negro. He is much discussed nowadays. Some people portray him in books and on the screen in the worst possible light; others endeavour to mitigate the situation. Nevertheless, his plight is discussed openly and intelligently in many circles, one of which is McGill. I, incidentally, am a Negro and have no objections to having my race discussed in any light (so long as it is not too intentionally malicious today).

Banning ideas does not remedy an unpleasant situation of the past, neither does it help to improve circumstances that prevail. With regard to old days and films presenting some historical fact of the past, they are only deteriorated if we banish certain portions because somebody's feelings might be touched.

I feel very firmly that any old-work of art should be presented in its entirety whether or not it have an anti-Catholic, anti-Jewish, or anti-Protestant bias. Not to do so is sign of immaturity and weakness.

Absurd Geology Question

Dear Sir:

Recently, in the many common rooms I have snuck into, I have heard conversations dealing with the 'over-specialization' of modern education.

There was even an editorial about this, as it applied to engineers, a few days ago in your paper. This 'over-specialization' has been carried to a ridiculous extent in at least one department at this university, and I should like to make public the incident which prompted this letter.

On Thursday last a number of engineers and scientists sat for an examination in Geology in which the following absurd question is asked: "The following are headings to sections in your textbooks. Choose A and two others and reproduce the textbook material as well as possible."

While I am willing to admit the necessity for specialized education, I am convinced that in an examination in Geology, one should not be quizzed on the wording of several chapters of one particular textbook. The questioning should surely be on the student's knowledge of the subject.

Yours very sincerely,
D. J. Howard, B.Eng. 3

Trial Marriage?

Mr. Kushner's article on trial marriage presents an argument which deserves serious consideration. His proposal arises from a genuine concern over the breakdown of modern marriages, and he suggests a remedy in good faith and without polemics. Thus I do not feel moved to denounce him, but rather to explain why I differ.

Question of Facts

My first difference is a question of facts. Mr. Kushner believes that two people living under the arrangement of trial marriage "so under all the existing conditions of wedlock". But surely one crucial condition would be lacking: the couple would not have pledged themselves to each other for life.

No will to persevere

This factor in the situation is what provides most young couples with the will to persevere through the conflicts which nearly always arise during the first years of marriage. Such conflicts are almost inevitable, for men and women marry what they believe is their ideal, and then have to learn both to change themselves for the other and to love the real person rather than the ideal.

These conflicts would arise in a trial marriage as well, but without this crucial incentive to adjustment. In real marriage each person has deliberately taken on a moral responsibility to make a go of it, come what may — to forgive without limit. In a trial marriage no such committal is made, and consequently few would succeed; the trial is not really a fair trial.

My second difference with Mr. Kushner arises from his attitude to science. He apparently believes that scientific experiment is an adequate method not only in the study of intimate personal relations, but in his own personal involvement in intimate personal relations. Now there is obviously a place for calculating the probability of a successful marriage on the basis of known facts, but beyond calculation lies committal and trust.

True love Impossible

Where these are hemmed in by deliberate and cautious experimentation with another person, true love becomes impossible; people become only things to be used. In a trial marriage, a man and a woman would simply be using one another, paying each other with sexual pleasure and human companionship.

Scientific experiment, as an attitude in one's own intimate personal relations, rules out love, for love issues in trust and committal or it is not love. The poets as well as the moralists of the ages bear witness to this. And, as a Christian, I believe that the ultimate reality is a loving God who has committed Himself to men, regardless of the cost. Christian marriage is modelled on the covenant-love of God; "Christian trial marriage" is a self-contradictory expression.

Human Goals

My final difference with Mr. Kushner has to do with human needs and goals. For him, it seems, the fundamental evil is pain and the supreme goal is some sort of happiness.

For me, the fundamental evil is human self-centredness and the supreme goal is that human beings should reflect the character of God. Trial marriage seems wrong to me, not only because I believe it would in the long run increase human misery, but because it would reinforce human self-centredness rather than weaken it . . .

I may perhaps have misunderstood him, and would certainly welcome his corrections and criticism.

Yours truly,
Don Evans, B.D. III

FRESHER...MILDER...THEY'RE TODAY'S CIGARETTE

STUDENTS' SOCIETY PRESIDENT

Avrum Cohen

1. New Union: This is foremost. University authorities give it "top priority" in their building program. Students must press for the realization of this overdue project. Money is to come from the next McGill campaign for funds.

Failing this, or supplementary to it, government grants should be sought.

The Union must be for male and female students. The constitution for the present Union should be amended so that all students vote for President (open to both sexes), men vote for Men's Vice-President (under whose jurisdiction would come matters of interest to men only), women vote for Women's Vice-President (under whose jurisdiction would come matters of interest to women only). The Union would thus truly be a Students' Union.

2. Campus Co-ordination Program: One way to fight student apathy is to bring the Undergraduate Societies into the fight. These are closer to the students than SEC. They should promote activities sponsored by SEC. They could, for example, help sell tickets to student productions. Increased co-ordination between these societies and SEC is important. It would be of particular value to students in professional faculties which are not located in "the heart" of the campus.

3. McGill Ticket Bureau: Through SCOPE we bring the artist to the student. Through a McGill ticket bureau we could bring the student to the artist and athlete. The sale, on campus, of tickets to cultural and athletic events in the city at REDUCED RATES is entirely feasible and worthwhile.

Avrum Cohen

Pen Sketch

We heartily endorse Avrum as Students' Society President and ask that you give the following facts your consideration:

1. Academic Record: Macdonald Entrance Scholarship. A & S Faculty Scholarship. Graduation from Arts with Great Distinction in the General Course. Highest standing in first year Law. University Scholarship.
2. Student Activity Record: SEC Representative, Law, '54-'55. Chairman of External Affairs, '54-'55. Combiner Charities Executive, '52-'53. Executive McGill Debating Union, '52-'53, '53-'54. Chairman Model Parliament Steering Committee, '53-'54. Chairman A & S Debating Committee, '51-'52. Class Treasurer in Arts, '49-'50. Intercollegiate Debating. ASUS "B" Award for Executive Ability, '51. ASUS "A" Award for Executive Ability, '52. A & S Debating Championship,

Roy Amaron

I do not propose in this platform to make any radical election promises, since these are usually made only to be broken, and are a rehashing of some current student leader's opinion. However, there appear to be a few issues which next year's President will have to handle.

Fraternities. As an active brother for five years, I shall attempt to protect the fraternities' position.

Women's Union. Closely acquainted with our mutual problems, I shall work for a happy and just solution to them. (e.g. Campus-wide election of McGill Union President).

New Union. As one of the framers of the latest New Union Brief, I shall strive for an early and successful conclusion of this project.

I propose to do my utmost to promote the interests and activities of all McGill students regardless of faculty, race, religion, gender, or class and to break down the barriers which tend to frustrate unity among us.

Roy Amaron

Pen Sketch

We the undersigned take great pleasure in sponsoring Roy Amaron for the Presidency of the Students' Society. We feel that he has the ability, integrity and personality required by the holder of this position. We also feel that his wealth of experience in student affairs at McGill makes him the ideal person for the job.

Roy entered McGill in 1949, received his B.A. and continued in Law. He has been associated with many clubs and societies including the Winter Carnival, Red and White Revue, C.O.T.C. (where he is now a contingent officer), Choral Society, and Old McGill. He was appointed to the Scarlet Key in 1954.

He has held the following executive positions with distinction:

- President Choral Society,
 - Managing Editor Old McGill '54,
 - President McGill Union, and
 - Member of the S.E.C.
- Chairman Dates Committee. A recipient of an A.S.U.S. Gold award, Roy has also received an S.E.C. Silver award and an Honourable Mention.

In all these activities Roy has, in our opinion, shown the qualities of decisiveness, tact, efficiency, and above all a fairness of approach and a broadness of outlook toward the many and varied groups and individuals which make up the student body.

Michael Feher

I, Michael Feher, if elected to the presidency of the Students' Society promise to represent fairly and impartially the general views of the student body as a whole, and will endeavour to conduct the executive council in such a manner as will be conducive to harmonious relationships between all organizations on the campus.

In such a position, I feel it will be my responsibility to be accessible to everyone on the campus, and to devote the necessary time and energy to look after your problems.

Furthermore I feel that since my duty is to reflect your views and act on your decisions, I have no right whatsoever to take a personal stand for or against anything, until such a time as your opinions are accurately determined and I am duly authorized by you to act.

The above are the only promises I make; and on these I base my stand and ask you for your support to place me in a position where I can serve you to the best of my ability.

M. Feher

Pen Sketch

Michael Feher, 27 years of age, was born and brought up in greater Montreal. He graduated from the High School of Montreal in 1945, and went to Val d'Or, Quebec, where he worked there in several capacities both in Mining and general commerce. After two years he turned to radio, which he entered as a cub announcer, and after only six months was named assistant manager of C.K.V.D., one of the stations of Radio Nord Inc., the only independent radio network outside of the C.B.C.

In Val d'Or he also became affiliated with the Schooner Club, which he raised from passive existence to flourishing activity.

Returning to Montreal in 1950, he won acceptance in the field of music, currently practicing as a professional pianist. Part of his spare time was devoted to social work with the Montreal Boy's Association. In 1953, he entered Sir George Williams College, where he ran for first year representative, after which he came to McGill University.

We believe that a man of such drive and accomplishments is best qualified to represent us as president of the Students' Society.

A) If elected I shall work for better understanding of Student Athletic needs and interests by the University Authorities and paid organisers, and for better coordination between the Athletics department.

The battle I fought as Law Athletic Representative, for an ice rink and suitable hockey equipment evidenced the facts that S.I.R.C. and S.A.C. are mere stamping pads of said Authorities and organisers.

I accepted the nomination for this position because I have a number of projects which will be of value to all students. These projects have become my platform.

1) During the summer much of the Athletics plant is rented and denied to students, even when not in use. A better arrangement can and should be made to give students a better break.

2) The S.A.C. should press for the extension of our intramural and recreational programmes so that more students will have the opportunity to use the equipment.

3) Finally, I feel that our present system of student athletic control is unwieldy — too many members of too many committees. Reorganization is essential.

Les Jonas

The specific tasks of the Union president are three-fold:

- 1) Administering the Union building;

I shall fulfill the above responsibilities to the best of my ability.

Special Projects:

- 1) to further the realization of a New Union;

Les Jonas

Pen Sketch

Entering McGill as a University Scholar, Les Jonas has kept his finger on student opinions and activities through the following:

- 3) Chairman of the Red and White Committee.

Les has also worked on the Annual, The Daily; the committees of the McGill Prom, the Plumbers' Ball and the Blood Donor Clinic; and he is a member of the Scarlet Key.

A Union President must have a thorough knowledge of all phases of college life and have the interest of McGill students at heart. Les Jonas has these qualities.

Paddy Winsor

The post of Union President is largely one of Administration. If elected I will endeavor to carry this out efficiently and in the best interests of the student body.

Finance: I would propose only those capital expenditures that would be useful in the New Union.

New Union: Let's see some action.

Pen Sketch

Paddy Winsor came to McGill in 1952, entering first year engineering. His school years were spent at Gordonstoun School in Scotland where he became head prefect in his last year. From there Paddy went into the Royal Navy for his two year National Service Stint, serving as a Sub Lieutenant in the supply and secretariat branch.

He has participated in many fields of extracurricular activities. He played for the championship Rugby team in '52 and was on the Intermediate track team for two years. Last year he was assistant Photography Editor of the Annual and this year he is Editor-in-Chief.

We feel that from Paddy's varied experience both here and abroad that he would be a capable and efficient administrator of the McGill Union.

WOMEN'S UNION PRES.

Joan Caplan

A main function of the Women's Union is to bring about closer relationships between resident and non-resident women. To fulfill this objective a city-sister system could be inaugurated.

Each resident girl would have a city-sister in the same year with common interests, thus widening the scope of acquaintances and activities for both. Year lunches would also help in this respect and would bridge the gap between faculties.

A Vocational Guidance week would feature aptitude tests helping to determine the choice of career luncheon speakers.

If elected, I would like to carry out these plans and maintain the present high standard of work being done in the interests of McGill women.

Pen Sketch

Joan's activities:

- 1) Secretary of the Women's Union '54-'55
- 2) Women's Union Fashion show '53; '54 Publicity Director; '55 Convenor
- 3) Open House — Chairman of Classics Department — Secretarial Work
- 4) McGill Prom Executive — tickets and reservations '53
- 5) Annual Sales
- 6) Combined Charities
- 7) India Sale
- 8) ASUS award — '53 Social Committee
- 9) Intramural basketball championship team '55.

Because of her outstanding executive abilities, her winning personality, her wide range of interests and activities, we are confident that Joan Caplan is the most qualified person for the position of president of the Women's Union.

SWIMMERS END SECOND IN CLOSE TITLE MEET

by Stu Smith

TORONTO, Ont., Feb. 26 — A fighting, game McGill swimming team today went down to defeat at Hart House pool in the most thrilling and the most closely contested Intercollegiate Swimming Meet in history. Toronto Varsity Blues became collegiate champions by winning the final relay to erase a one-point lead the Red squad held at the end of the penultimate event. Western University, a pre-meet favorite in many circles, showed a strong, but poorly balanced team, and they had to settle for third place in the three-college competition. The final count was: Varsity—42, McGill—35, and Western—32.

Individual stars of the meet were Bob Eason of Western, George Stulac of Varsity, and Lloyd Kishino and Jerry Anderson of McGill. Eason romped to victories in both the 220 and 440-yard Free Style races, followed in each case by the Redmen's Don Murray.

Stulac, who is one of the top scorers for the Varsity basketball aggregation, by a curious coincidence had a "run-in" with his hoopla coach this weekend and he was allowed to "voluntarily leave the basketballers", hence rendering him eligible for the swim meet, since collegiate rules allow a man to participate in only one Intercollegiate sport per season. George won the 50-yard free-style, placed second to Kishino in the century and played an important role in the Blues' final relay win.

Kishino, however, was the man who stole the show. Lloyd not only beat out the highly-rated Stulac in the 100-yard Free Style in the superb time of 56 seconds flat, but he also set a new Intercollegiate meet record in the 150-yard Individual Medley with a clocking of 1:36.8. He also swam in the 400-yard relay.

Anderson came through as expected to win the diving competition handily despite some of the poorest judging seen in many a day. Jerry also showed his versatility by nabbing a third in the 50-yard Free Style and swimming as anchor man in the relay.

Besides Kishino, Anderson and Murray, point-getters for the Montrealers were Pete Capelovitch, who placed second to Toronto's Bates in the 200-yard breast-stroke, Ed Adelson, who finished third in both the 220 Free Style and the 200-yard backstroke, Fred Weinstein, third in the Individual Medley, and Pete Phippen, Norm Benoit and Bob Japp, who garnered fourths in the diving, breast-stroke and the 440-yard free-style respectively. Mention should also be made of Chris Webber, who performed in three free-style events.

The outcome of the meet was always in doubt from the very beginning through to the time when it became evident that McGill could not overtake Varsity in the final 400-yard relay. It was a heart-breakingly close meet which could have gone either way. Coach Greg Titus, however, was thoroughly pleased with his team and he pointed with confidence to next year when his younger swimmers will have developed into champions.

Pucksters Split Games

by Marv Goldsmith

The McGill Redmen are now in second place in the Intercollegiate Hockey League but they did it the hard way. On Friday night the Red and White handed Laval their first win of the season on a silver platter but on Saturday night they started to play hockey once again and they ended a four game losing streak by beating the U of M squad, 4-2.

The victory over the Carabins enabled the Redmen to move into the runned-up spot behind the champion Toronto Blues, one point behind the college on the hill.

The Redmen machine couldn't do anything right at the Forum in the first game of their weekend double-header as the Quebecers outplayed, outfought, outlucked, and outscored them 6-4. The Red and White looked tired from the opening whistle, and the high-scoring contest was a dull, drab affair, providing little excitement to the 100 odd fans that wandered into the Atwater ice-barn.

There was only one bright spot on the McGill side of the ledger. That was a three goal effort by Herb English who was a doubtful starter because of a leg injury.

On Saturday night it was a completely different story as the Redmen got the breaks and eked out a 4-2 victory over the University of Montreal. Once again, however, the Red and White defence wasn't up to par and at least three Carabin shots bounced off the goal, behind a harrassed Bernie Wong.

Pete Constable picked up a rebound shot by Gordie Currie in the first period and dented the twine behind Cy Geuvrement who made some sensational saves the the U of M cage. Jack MacMullin gave the Redmen a 2 goal bulge as he slapped in a loose puck from a pile up in front of the nets.

Gerard Houle brought the Carabin to within a single tally when he counted with Paul Dingle sitting out a hooking penalty. Dickie Baltzan made it 3-1 as he picked up the disc at his own blue line and raced up the left side to beat Geuvrement cleanly just before the second period came to a close.

Herb English scored his fourth goal of the weekend with a beautiful solo dash early in the last canto. The U of M closed out the scoring in the rough game, Vic Marchessault beating Wong with three minutes to go.

OAC COPS MAT TITLE; REDMEN END FOURTH

by Jack Weinman

The McGill matmen failed for the fourth straight year to cop the Intercollegiate Wrestling Championships which were held this year at Guelph. This year's champs are the OAC Aggies who amassed a total of 73 points while winning 6 individual titles. The other three titles were won by Toronto, who finished second with 64 points. Western was third with 33, while the Redmen were fourth with 27 and Queens was last with 9.

McGill failed to win a title, placing only three men in the finals. They won one consolation round match, Joe Hanaway winning in the 177 lbs. bracket. Bill Foldstone was the only McGill man eliminated completely in the first round, all the others were in the consolations, or the finals.

The Redmen who got into the finals were all eliminated in comparatively close fights. Pete Clarke lost a close decision to McFadden of OAC in the 130 lbs. class. Hickley of Toronto was extended till the last minute and a half by McGillian, Hugh Stephens, a mat veteran, in the 157 lbs. class. Paul Hughes, another old matman, lost a decision to Waugh of Toronto in the 191 lbs. bracket.

Bill Perks

What the Engineering Undergraduate Society needs is not "bigger and better" programmes, such as smokers, cheap dances, etc., but a little sound Reform.

1. Continuity on the Executive — incorporating a stagger system for election of officers, as in the SEC.

2. More severe budgeting and handling of funds to halt the annual depletion of our surplus (which is now critical).

3. Add a little stimulus to our Professional Committee so we can benefit from visits from leaders in industry.

Bill Perks

We the undersigned feel that Bill Perks will competently fulfill the position of President of the EUS. From a knowledge of his past work in his numerous activities it is our opinion that Bill has the ability and character required.

He has held the following posts:

2. Secretary of Phi Epsilon Alpha Society — 1954-55.
3. Publicity Manager, EUS — 1953-54.
4. Chairman, EUS Debating Society — 1953-54.
5. Publicity Manager, Plumbers Ball — 1953-54.
6. Member of Scarlet Key since 1953.

1) Improved spirit: pre-game rallies, Engineering cardigans, continued emphasis on intramural sports, increased inter-faculty rivalry.

2) Better organization: closer cooperation with club presidents.

4) Stricter observance of constitution's aims and objects.

VARSIITY BLASTS CAGERS 77-47; DUPLESSIS STARS FOR REDMEN

by Horshun Arown

The season can't finish too soon for Joe Anderson's injury-riddled cagers. They dropped their last home game of the year by a 77-47 score to the Toronto Blues and now have but two more games to play. The Redmen are now nestled securely in fifth place in the league standings with a record of two wins and six losses.

Three first string players saw action in the game for McGill despite injuries. Captain Mel Mikalchki was nursing a severely wrenched back, Johnny Thompson played with his left hand taped and had difficulty handling the ball, and Lou Gordon was still recovering from the hand and leg injuries he suffered earlier in the season.

There was never any doubt as to the outcome of the game. The Blues were ahead 22-9 by the 10 minute mark of the first half and they just coasted from there. Toronto's fast break and the steady shooting and playmaking of Don Fawcett was just too much for the weakened Redmen squad.

There were two bright spots on the otherwise bleak McGill horizon. Centre Leon DuPlessis continued the outstanding play which has made him a very strong contender for the all-star centre position. He was the only offensive weapon the Redmen had and Toronto double-teamed him in the bucket and at times switched three men to cover him. Despite this, "Dupe" hit for 19 points and was the high scorer of the game.

Another bright spot was the performance of Tom Leung. He was pressed into action in the last ten minutes of the game and showed that with a little more experience under game conditions he will give some of the first stringers a fight for their jobs.

Summary — Toronto, Fawcett, 18; Potter, 7; Matsalla, 9; Binnington, 11; Kurdyak, 10; Oneschuk, 3; Madden, 8; Tile, 5; Vachulis, 6; Richman, 0. Total 77.

(McGill: Gordon, 6; Mikalchki, 11; Thompson, 6; DuPlessis, 19; Zommers, 3; Leung, 2; Heffernan, Amaron, Kushner, Jones, Total 47.
